

Injury Prevention and OSHA Compliance

This comprehensive, full-day training will cover how a business can successfully prepare for and complete an OSHA inspection. Topics to be covered throughout the session include:

- What to do when an OSHA officer shows up at your business A review of the most frequently cited OSHA standards
- A focus on specific items that are targeted by the local OSHA inspectors
- Developing the required written safety programs
- Implementing the key components of these safety programs
- OSHA 300 logs and submitting data onto the Injury Tracking Application
- National and regional OSHA emphasis programs
- Machine guarding requirements and effective solutions
- Employee training requirements
- How to effectively train employees with minimum operation down time
- How preparing for OSHA compliance can help prevent injuries and reduce liability
- Managing regulatory liability with on site contractors
- Hundreds of picture examples of local business regulatory issues and effective controls

February 19, 2019
8:00am-4:00pm

St Marys, PA

Community Education Center
4 Erie Avenue

Cost: $300

To register or for additional information:

www.nwirc.org
814-217-6067

Instructor: Todd Sturgeon, Sturgeon Consulting

Todd Sturgeon has worked in manufacturing (controlling injuries and overhead expenses) for over 25 years. His firm has helped hundreds of facilities prepare for, and successfully navigate through, regulatory compliance inspections.

