

Order Out of Chaos

Adapting to Your New Normal During COVID-19

The Coronavirus has become one of the biggest disrupters our world has ever seen. It has created both medically and economically challenging times that have not only impacted businesses but also our personal lives. Lockdowns and home offices have become the new norm. The next big question is how can people and organizations adapt? How can we continue to safely operate, be financially sound, communicate while masked, promote mental health, and be prepared for a second wave as we re-open our doors?

In this free, content-rich, 30 minute webinar you will learn how to:

- THRIVE during chaotic and stressful times
- Overcome the FEAR that hinders your focus and goals
- Implement 21 unique tips that will increase your productivity during and after quarantine
- Apply the Stockdale principle of survival to your POW situation
- Assess what is really causing you stress and learn how to defeat it
