

Turn Off the Labor Shortage Alarm

TOUR

There are owners on the shop floor running machines, presidents working third shift, and office staff in shipping/receiving. It's time to stop fighting fires and focus on strategy with your current team.

That's the mission of this morning program!

STRATEGY

Solutions to the Short-Term and Long-Term Workforce Crisis
with Chip Madera

Explore the critical beliefs, behaviors, and actions that foster a positive work culture. We'll discuss the organizational framework that inspires and engages your manufacturing team to embrace the mission, vision and values of your organization. Hear success stories of companies that built leadership infrastructures to produce sustainable performance.

Chip Madera is a Motivation and Performance Strategist with over 25 years experience helping leaders and teams from every type of industry. He has a BS Degree in Psychology and a Masters of Science in Human Resources and Organizational Development.

RESPONSE TEAM

No need to go it alone. Get connected with your regional workforce partners all in one place. Organizations will display information and be available to discuss resources you may need now, or down the road. This is a great opportunity to gather contacts and explore how they can serve you.
